Join us at the HTAA!

Here's what our Charter Member Fleets have to say about why they joined:

C.R. England, Inc. is excited to be a part of the new HTAA program. At C.R. England, keeping a driver healthy is every bit as important as keeping him or her safe while driving our nation's highways. We are convinced that being a part of HTAA offers our drivers an opportunity to be proactive at living a healthier, more productive lifestyle. We are proud to be offering this benefit and being part of something that is critical to keeping America's truckers doing what they do best – delivering America's freight. Thanks HTAA!

Graebel Van Lines is committed to improving the lives of our contractors and their families. HTAA is the first organization that has developed a comprehensive program to benefit the drivers with discount programs, health insurance, disability insurance and family support with access to a health professional 24 hours a day. We believe this association will only improve over time becoming an even better resource for improving the lives of our drivers and families.

Greatwide is honored to have joined the HTAA as a charter member. Our owner-operators and drivers come first at Greatwide, and we are genuinely concerned about their health and safety. Our 2009 wellness initiative aligns perfectly with the HTAA mission, and we are grateful for the healthy influence it will create across our industry.

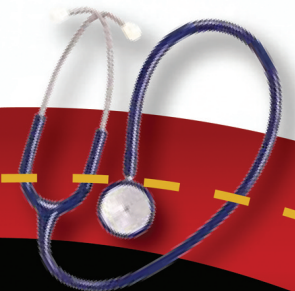

Koch Trucking is proud to be a Charter Member of the HTAA. It has always been our goal to provide a safe and healthy work environment for our drivers and employees. The HTAA will help us ensure that those goals are met today and in the future.

The life of a driver is a demanding one that can wear on both the mind and body. At LinkAmerica, we provide the tools and resources our drivers need to help maintain their health, safety and well-being. We are proud to be a Charter Member of the HTAA, because its very mission is to help over-the-road professionals live healthier, longer lives. Our goals are consistent. We believe that LinkAmerica team members should receive all the advantages of a "Best in Class" wellness program, and that is why we provide every driver and his/her family with an opportunity for personal one-on-one health coaching from our very own certified wellness professional. Give us a call and get your life on the road to healthy living!

We carry healthy solutions

At Marten Transport, Ltd., we realize that the health and well-being of our drivers is paramount to a successful operation. When Marten was offered the opportunity to become a charter member of the Healthy Trucking Association of America, we jumped. HTAA provides Marten yet another premium benefit to our drivers and employees to help them lead more healthy and productive lives. Call Tim Norlin, Director of Recruiting.

NFI is proud to be a Charter Member of the HTAA. The goals of the HTAA and their partners are in line with what our company believes in – the health and well-being of our drivers. We are concerned about the high number of drivers with heart disease and high blood pressure, and NFI is taking action to help our drivers get healthy and feel better...for themselves and their families.

Trimac Transportation is excited to be involved with the HTAA. As the first organization to actively promote driver's health and overall well-being, we believe the HTAA will not only be a resource for our drivers and contractors, but also a longtime partner in helping the industry overcome the health challenges we face today.

As we move further into the 21st century, it is becoming more evident that the health and well-being of our most valuable asset – our drivers – has become even more critical to the success of our organization moving forward. The Universal Truckload Services Inc. family of companies recognizes the challenges our driving force will face in the coming months and years and feels that it is time to partner with the HTAA in order to better advance our industry's mutual efforts for a healthier workforce. UTSI and the HTAA are deeply committed to providing the tools and resources needed for our workforce to achieve a healthier and safer life on the road and at home.
